

June 29, 2015

Dear Ms. Gordon:

Your letter of June 15, 2015 addressed to President Devlin, Fanshawe College, relative to the Canadian Center for Product Validation (CCPV) has been forwarded to me for response.

Currently the staffing requirements of the CCPV are under active review and will continue to evolve for some time to come.

I can, however, advise you that there will be significantly less than 40 individuals employed at the CCPV; in fact our initial projections are more in the area of seven employees.

The operation will be staffed both by employees, members of OPSEU, and Administration. By way of further clarification, no Academic staff will be employed at CCPV and no teaching is scheduled to take place at this facility.

Let me assure you that it is Fanshawe College's intention to remain fully compliant with the Colleges Collective Bargaining Act (CCBA).

Should you have further questions or concerns regarding our CCPV facility, please forward them to the undersigned.

Yours truly,

Jeff Low
